Throughout her tennis career, Justine Henin has had to show extraordinary tenacity and self-sacrifice, whatever the obstacles she has encountered, in order to surpass herself and achieve her ultimate goal: to become world number one. Along with his natural talent, this mindset has marked his entire tennis career. To reach the top of the world rankings, she also had to surround herself with a professional and caring team. She has always tried to create the right environment for her to focus on herself and to excel, especially by protecting herself from outside influences.

Today, she wants to pass on these lessons to all tennis players through a project that is close to her heart and in which she is involved every day: the Justine Henin Academy. To carry out her academy project, Justine Henin has surrounded herself with her long-time coach, Carlos Rodriguez, and an experienced team that shared her philosophy and values.
